How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL, not affected by extremes of climate. This will be be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, drys out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297.50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

—Cardinal Newman says that he wrote but three stanzas of "Lead, Kindly Light," the fourth being "an unwarranted addendum by another pen."

—Miss Braddon, the novelist, whose real name is Mrs. John Maxwell, lives at Richmond, near London, Eng. She is a middle-aged woman, who delights in outdoor exercise and is especially fond of horseback riding.

—President Cleveland recently remarked to a caller who expressed regret at not seeing Mrs. Cleveland: "The truth is I don't see much of her myself. If I see her once a day I consider myself pretty lucky."

—Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, of Boston, daughter of Prof. Agassiz, has for eight years supported free kindergartens in the poorest quarters of Boston and Cambridge at a personal expense of as much as fifty thousand dollars a year.

—"Grandma" Eliza Ballou Garfield, who died at Mentor on January 21st, was eighty-six years old, and had been for fifty-five years a widow. She was the only woman who ever saw her son inaugurated President of the United States.

—Western papers are discussing the rise of Bill Nye and trying to determine who was his discoverer. Editor Rothacker, of the Omaha Republican, says that Bill needed no discoverer, but he submits the following testimonial, written upon Nye's second book: "To O. H. Rothacker, who, more than any one else, is responsible for the crimes against public patience of which I have been guilty.
"E. W. NYE."

—Charles Dickens recently wrote his name on a New York hotel register "Charles Boz Dickens," and said to a friend: "That was a little joke of my grandfather's, who was present at my christening, and when my father, in response to the clergyman, gave my name as Charles my grandfather muttered 'Boz,' and the minister put it in. This is my information, at least; I do not remember the circumstance myself. But I am told that Charles Boz is my baptismal name."

—George W. Childs is another millionaire who uses neither intoxicants nor tobacco. He likes fine dishes, and he has a good cook, but he eats plainly, and his digestion is in good condition. His table service is probably the finest in the United States. It is made up of choice china from all over the world. Sevres, Worcester, Derby, Dresden and Minton vie with the rarest productions of China and Japan, and it is said that one of his dinners to twenty persons brings out china worth thirty thousand dollars.

—Johann Strauss has written a biography of his father, the waltz composer, who, together with Lanner, created the modern Vienna dance music. The elder Strauss, who died in 1845, at the age of forty-five, was for a time a leader of Lanner's orchestras, which he left when he discovered his talent for composition. "In those days," says his son, "composing was easier than it is to-day. Now, in order to produce a polka, one has to study the entire musical literature, and, perhaps, in addition, several philosophical systems; formerly only one thing was required in composing—one had to have an idea."

—Friend to Congressman's Wife—"Is your husband a man of sedentary habits?" Wife—"Of course not. He hasn't touched a drop in fifteen years."—Washington Critic.

—Lady—"Your clothes are very ragged. Can't I do some sewing for you?" Tramp—"Yes, madam; you may sew an overcoat on this button, if you please. It seems to feel the need of society."—Drift.

—"I've a letter from your sigher, baby mine, baby mine," remarked the old man to his daughter, as he intercepted a tender missive from the hired hand. "I can kiss and never tie her," muttered the unfortunate fellow, as he watched it going into the stove.—Peoria Transcript.

—Young man (to waiter)—"What have you got, waiter?" Waiter—"Anythin' an' everythin'." Young Man—"Well, give me some nightingales' tongues on toast." Waiter (after a short absence)—"Sorry, boss, but the cook says as what the toast is all out."—N. Y. Sun.

—"Dearest," said a fond but practical lover, after the wedding day had been set, "can you—er—do you know how to sweep?" "Sweep?" repeated the girl, with a proud glitter in her eyes. "At the party to-morrow night, George, dear, just watch me as I sweep into the room!"

TALMAGE'S ELOQUENCE.

Vivid Description of an Evening Service in the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

The first object that strikes the visitor to the Brooklyn Tabernacle is the immense organ. Promptly at 7:15 o'clock the organist runs his fingers over the ivory keys, and plays two or three selections. At the exact moment of 7:30 Doctor Talmage walks on the platform. His black broadcloth frock coat is thrown open. A turned-down collar encircles his neck and a black tie covers his snowy shirt front. He drops into a blue plush chair, and a moment is spent in prayer. Then he adjusts his glasses to his eyes and opens his Bible. The organ peals forth, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." A stout, well-built man steps on a small platform and waves his right hand. In his left he holds a silver cornet. This he puts to his mouth and leads the vast audience in song. There is no choir or quartette in the Tabernacle. The singing is entirely by the congregation. After this Dr. Talmage steps forward. The peal of the organ has hardly died away before he announces his Bible reading. He holds the good book in his right hand, close to his face. His left hand steals around to his back and clutches nervously at his coat-tail. He begins in a well-rounded but not musical voice. The vast audience is hushed in expectancy. The fall of a pin could be heard. Slowly the preacher proceeds. It is the ever delightful story of Ruth that he has selected. He reads sentence after sentence and in a conversational way injects comments until the old story that all the world has laughed and cried over is invested with a new light and a new meaning. After this another hymn and then the collection. As the pennies, dimes and quarters jingle musically together in the collection boxes the cornetist plays again. The great church is by this time full to overflowing. There isn't standing room anywhere. Massive chandeliers light up the building perfectly, and the stained glass windows make a pretty and effective background. Then the sermon begins. The preacher comes down to the front of the platform without notes or even a book in his hand. He doesn't use a table or pulpit. He stands alone. Every eye is on him. He gives out his text in a clear, loud, ringing voice, and repeats it twice. He usually begins the sermon by a hasty word picture of the scene where the text is laid, or by an anecdote. The sermon lasts forty minutes. It is full of vigor and earnestness. Indeed, that is the chief characteristic of Talmage on the platform. He is in earnest. He talks quickly, nervously. He paces up and down the platform, and now tells a story in a low, sweet voice, and again he belches forth like Vesuvius, and makes the chandeliers rattle with the sound of his voice. At times he is intensely humorous. Again, he has the audience in tears. Again, he is so dramatic that the conviction forces itself upon you that if he had taken to the stage instead of the pulpit he would have made a great actor.

"What words did the Master use when the winds and waves lashed Galilee into a fury?" he shouts.

He steps back a half-dozen feet, and for a moment there is silence. Then he comes rushing down the platform like a tornado until he reaches the very edge. His hands are uplifted. He turns his face to the ceiling until his mouth is on a straight line with his ears, and in a pleading voice says, softly, musically: "Peace!"

Quick as a flash his hands come down. His face has lost its sweetness. His voice is changed and harsh, and the sentence is completed by an awful and intensely dramatic yell: "Be still!" It is the voice of authority. Galilee is stilled. There are "Ohs" in the audience, and a man in a pew in front of me leans over to his companion and whispers: "I never understood the meaning of that sentence before."

The vast audience never loses interest. It is an audience made up of fully two-thirds of men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five. They belong to all walks of life. Some are students, others are actors and playwrights, young ministers, bankers, brokers, lawyers, and storekeepers. They laugh at the anecdotes, and they cry and they listen reverently, tenderly, to the manly pleading to come to Jesus.

The preacher knows every lute string in the human heart.

He draws magnificent pictures in words, but he never forgets to send home solid truths.

It is like a panorama.

The curtain is rising and falling on resplendent pictures. They dazzle the listeners. The eye is soothed and the ear charmed.

The big clock in the rear of the church points to nine.

Not a soul moves.

The sermon is nearly over.

Look! the last picture is shown!

It is Gethsemane!

There is the Mountain, the Cross and the Saviour of Men!—Foster Coates, in N. Y. Mail and Express.

—Jay Gould is reported to have said that the speculators have made a plaything of his health for years, and that he could shake Wall street to its foundation by simply standing on the steps of the Stock Exchange building striking his forehead with his hand and giving a groan or two.

—Cheese Omelet.—Grate an ounce of rich old cheese quite fine, sprinkle or sift it over the beaten egg, stir in lightly, together with a teaspoonful of chopped parsley or green sage, thyme, or sweet marjoram, and cook as directed for other omelets.

DESTROYING THE DIES.

A Task Performed at the Government Mints at the End of Each Year.

A little roll of metal red with fire was placed upon the anvil, a sledge hammer fell twice upon it, three tiny sparks shot into the air, and the molds of the old year's double eagle gold coins were wiped out forever. It was a thousandth part of the work that lasted all day at the mint, the destroying of the 1887 dies.

This is a novel form of destruction that falls to the lot of the money-making establishment's blacksmiths at the end of each calendar year, and is the only sure way of preventing the wily counterfeiter from making spurious coin without regard to date. The dies of the mint are the stamps that imprint on the coin all that fancy business that, when rubbed off by time, gives the street car conductor a chance to insult the holder by refusing to accept it. For instance, it stamps on the dollar the face of the beautiful lady encircled by stars and makes a strong contrast on the other side by printing a game looking eagle perched on arrows under "In God we trust."

The die is a little round chunk of steel about three inches long, sloping off at the top, which makes it look like a miniature milkman's can without handles. On the top of it is cut the face of the coin it manufactures, with the date of the year, and something to think about when you look at them is that the die of a penny costs the Government no less than the die that makes precious the twenty-dollar gold piece. Coiner Steel, of the mint, signed the death warrant of the old year's dies. It meant the destruction of a thousand of 1887's money-makers. Every stamp, from double eagles to dollars in gold, from dollars to ten-cent pieces in silver, the fives in nickel and the pennies in copper were doomed.

The place of execution was the gloomy shop in the basement weirdly lit by hungry firelight. At 9:30 o'clock the dies were taken from their cells upstairs and conveyed thither in black coffin-like pans. Coined gold jingled merrily on all sides as the procession passed. What regret had gold for the steel that gave it power to ruin souls? So the dies of '87 passed to their fate unwept.

The little coiners of big money were first sacrificed. The dies of gold were flung by handfuls into the flames. There they lay until the steel grew red and the face of Columbia blushed crimson. They were not taken out by hand, but with iron tongs, and placed right-end upward on the anvils. Then the smithy raised his sledge hammer aloft and struck each one full in the face. A shower of sparks, a smashed sound and the agony was over. The ring of the steel had gone, the face vanished like magic and the die of the past was but crushed, unshapely metal.—Philadelphia Press.

ASSISTING THE POOR.

Mrs. Bowser Tells How She Complied With Mr. Bowser's Instructions.

"Do you know," said Mr. Bowser as he suddenly looked up at me the other evening, "that you are getting the reputation of being the hardest-hearted woman on this street?"

"Why, no! Who calls me hard-hearted?"

"Every body. They say you fire every applicant for charity off the steps before they can draw a long breath."

"But there are a good many impostors around this winter."

"How do you know an impostor from an unfortunate?"

"Why, by—by—by——"

"You couldn't tell a pirate from a tax assessor, and you know it! Now, then, I want a change in this business. I want the poor and unfortunate to know they have a friend in me."

"But they come along and want food and drink and clothes and money, and I——"

"Don't you throw 'em away, Mrs. Bowser—not a single one! I was a poor boy myself once, and I know how it feels to be hungry and ragged."

"Then you must take the consequence."

"What consequence? Mrs. Bowser, I've got to have a serious talk with you some day soon! You are fostering sentiments which appal me, and which must sooner or later bring you to the gallows. When a woman loses her feelings of pity and charity she has reached a dangerous stage. I may come home some night and find you have murdered our child."

"Let your patients come around, Mr. Bowser, and I will prescribe for them."

Nothing further was said, and he hadn't been gone ten minutes next morning, when a couple of very healthy-looking young men rang the door-bell. I rather think Mr. Bowser met 'em on the corner and sent 'em to the house.

"Madam," began one of the pair, as I opened the door, "if you would be so very ——"

"Oh, certainly—walk right in; you are two unfortunate young men. You have been sick and had bad luck, and are now trying to get a fresh start. Come right into the dining-room."

They were so astonished that I had to repeat the invitation.

I seated them at the table, told the cook to provide for them, and as I passed up stairs I heard one of them say:

"Well, Billy, this is rich! Shouldn't wonder if we could also strike her for a quarter apiece!"

I knew that they would ask for old clothes, because they were very shabby. I therefore brought them down two of Mr. Bowser's old suits. I also

SONOMA VALLEY LANDS.

RECENTLY the attention of people from the East and elsewhere has been attracted to this valley as one of the desirable places for real estate investments. As good if not better land than is now selling in the Southern part of the State for from $500 to $1000 an acre can be had in Sonoma Valley from $100 to $150 an acre. This land will grow anything that the soil produces without irrigation. Land located in the hills surrounding the valley can be bought for from $20 to $50 an acre and even less. These lands are well timbered, contain living springs in abundance, afford the best of pasturage for stock the year round and for the cultivation of the olive and the vine cannot be excelled. Like the valley soil it requires no irrigation and crops can be raised either on valley or mountain farms with half the cost and labor that is required to mature crops in many other sections of the State. While the boom has been in progress in other localities and prices of land inflated to double and treble their real value, Sonoma Valley land is to-day selling at about the same figure as a year ago. Therefore, we say, now is the time to jump in and secure a farm. The boom is just beginning to make itself felt here. In a few months it will be in full swing and real estate values will take an upward turn. Then it will be impossible to secure bargains. For small farms and homes there is plenty of land in this valley that is worth twice as much to-day as the asking price for agricultural purposes alone. To the man in quest of land upon which to build a home and cultivate a small vineyard or orchard there is no place in the State that offers better inducements than Sonoma Valley at this particular time. Of course the opportunity for profitable investment will be lost to those who wait for the boom to come before they buy. This valley is but fifty miles from San Francisco and will be but one-and-a-half hours ride from that city by the first of June or July, by which time the improved railroad facilities promised by the Napa and Marin Railroad will have become an established fact. The San Francisco Bulletin of the 27th inst., in an able editorial speaks of the lands within easy reach of that city, that paper evidently having Sonoma Valley in view, and among other things says: "Land within an hour-and-a-half's ride of the center of a population of over three hundred thousand cannot be said to be dear at from $150 to $250 per acre, when the same is capable of producing almost any kind of a crop, has a splendid climate and possesses all those attractions which make a place desirable for suburban residence. And there are some of the best fruit and grape lands in the State lying within a radius of seventy miles of San Francisco, convenient to railroads which can be had for as low a figure as $30 per acre. People will sooner or later find these facts out for themselves and fully realize that the territory adjacent to San Francisco Bay offers some of the best opportunities for legitimate investments in real estate of any part of California."

THE Viticultural Commission is engaged in the compilation of a new directory of all the vineyardists in the State. It will contain several thousand names, and as soon as a complete list is received from Fresno and Santa Clara counties the lists will go to the State Printer for publication. Complete lists are at hand from San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa, Solano, Alameda, Napa, Sonoma, Lake, Mendocino, Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Shasta, Tehama, Butte, Yolo, Colusa, Merced, Placer, Sacramento, Plumas, Amador, Calaveras, El Dorado, Yuba, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Sutter, San Joaquin, Tulare, Kern, Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties.

THE St. Helena News has cut prices in order to cripple its rival, the Star, published in the same place. This is "cutting its nose off to spite its face," and is as unbusiness-like as it is unprofitable. The Star's prices both for advertising and subscription are fair and were they less St. Helena would no doubt be minus a first-class weekly newspaper as there is only a living for its publishers at the best. If the editors of the News desire to run a paper for love and guage their prices accordingly that is their concern and not ours, but we most strenuously object to their mode of doing business, as they are not only cutting the throat of their rival but their own as well, and in a general sense their course has a tendency to injure the country newspaper business all around. The rural newspaper man has enough to contend against without having his business assailed by a cotemporary. Men engaged in other business pull together and we don't see why newspaper men should not do the same. They don't, however, and that is why the majority of country newspaper men have an uphill row to hoe, while the balance of the business world dig the "taters" the other way.

A NEW paper has been started in Healdsburg. It is called the Sonoma County Tribune. It has a neat typographical appearance, but the most striking feature about this new candidate for public favor is the resemblance of its name to another paper that has been published in this county for ten years. There is little difference between SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE and "Sonoma County Tribune," and the similarity of the names may lead to serious business complications between the two journals. However, it is not yet too late for the self-styled "leading Republican paper of Sonoma county," to make a change in its name, and we hope out of all fairness that it will do so.

THE editor of the Bulletin had better read up his Bible. In last Tuesday's issue of that paper it is stated that "to-morrow is Ash Wednesday." This is an egregious error, and is made all the more glaring from the fact that the managing editor, G. K. Fitch, is the deacon of a prominent church in San Francisco. February 15th, was Ash Wednesday. Spy Wednesdey fell on the day referred to by the Bulletin and is observed to commomorate the search of the Jews for the Savior in order to put him to death.

EX-LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR Dorsheimer, a leading Democratic politician of New York and editor of the Star of that city, died in Savannah, Ga., last Monday.

A Postoffice has been established at Asti, this county, where ever that may be, with Gracomo Gaggero, who ever he may be, as Postmaster.

Wanamaker on Advertising.

John Wanamaker, the great Philadelphia millionaire merchant, recently spoke as follows about advertising: "I never in my life used such a thing as a poster, or dodger, or handbill. My plan has been for fifteen years to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill up with what I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of 500 circulation for 5,000 posters or dodgers. If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry or run a gambling scheme I might use posters, but I would not insult a decent reader with handbills. The class of people who read such things are a poor lot to look to for support in mercantile affairs. I deal directly with the publisher. I say to him, 'how long will you let me run a column of matter through your paper for $100 or $500?' as the case may be. I let him do the figuring, and if I do not think he is trying to get more than his share, I let him take the copy. I lay aside the profit on a particular line of goods for advertising purposes. The first I laid aside $3,000; last year I laid aside and spent $40,000. I have done better this year and shall increase that sum as the profits warrant it. I owe my success to the newspapers, and to them I shall freely give a certain share of my yearly business."

Rev. Samuel Stanley Pentz, Chaplain to the Bishop of Nothern California, writes to us from Sacramento, Cal., under date of Nov. 1, 1887, as follows: "Gentlemen: For a number of years I had frequent occasion to use Simmons Liver Regulator, and I cheerfully commend it to those suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia and general depression as a most excellent appetizing tonic." To J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Lime and Orange Grafting.

There is an item traveling about the State which asserts, upon the authority of an alleged native of Turkey, that oranges budded on lime stock are not susceptible to the attacks of insect pests as much as those budded on other stocks. This whole matter of the best stock upon which to bud oranges has been pretty thoroughly experimented with in Southern California. It has been shown that the parent stock has a very decided influence upon the resultant fruit. At one time it was thought a good idea to bud oranges on China lemon stocks, but the result was a fruit with thick skin and other undesirable characteristics of the parent. The lime is the tenderest of the principal citrus fruits, and oranges budded on that stock partake of the susceptibility to frosts of the parent, and are therefore not nearly so hardy as those budded on other stocks. The sour or wild orange of Florida is about the hardiest stock known, and the budding of choice varieties on it is being followed with great success. As to the orange or lime stock for not being susceptible to the attack of scale and other pests, that is the veriest nonsense, and it will be found very unprofitable to place any reliance upon so absurd a proposition.—San Bernardino Times.

How Producers are Robbed by Commission Merchants.

Senator Del Valle and his brother, who own the Camulos Rancho, lately shipped a fine lot of oranges and lemons to the California and Oregon Produce Co., 427 Front Street, S. F., expecting to realize therefrom about $600. Instead of this, they received a money-order for $10.20 and a letter stating that the fruit had been received in bad condition, and brought only $90, out of which $60.50 freight, $12 drayage, $7.20 commission and ten cents for the money-order had been deducted. It so happened, however, that the Del Valles' suspicious were aroused; detective Harris and Metzler were employed, and it was soon learned that the whole transaction was a fraud. The C. & O. P. Co. alias W. Soleman & Co. alias A. Zech & Co. were found to have sold the fruit for good prices and pocketed pretty much all the money. Upon discovery they weakened and promptly paid over $627.10, begging that the thing be kept quiet. The "Ventura Republican" complies with their request by publishing an account of the transaction, and thereby renders the honest producer a service which every lover of square dealing must approve, and every one who has an opportunity should emulate with cheerful promptness.

Coming This Way.

A gentleman who has just returned from Southern California says the boom in boomland is bursted. About a year ago he went to Southern California and found the trains going into San Diego and Los Angeles overcrowded. The hotels were full to overflowing; the streets so thronged that people could hardly pass on the sidewalk. Now, he finds things reversed. The trains going into the south are comparatively empty, while those coming this way are crowded so that in some instances men have to sit on the wood-boxes or stand up. The exodus has really set in from the south. Several of the Los Angeles real estate men came up Saturday and are preparing themselves for the approaching boom. When it comes to the north it comes to stay. Here the immigration will get value received for the coin.—Sacramento Record Union.

A Good Price for Wine.

Yesterday it was ascertained at the headquarters of the Viticultural Commission that an especially good sale of wine in bulk had been effected. Fifty thousand gallons of claret and white wine, grown and manufactured in Sonoma county, have just been disposed of to a wholesale dealer at the rate of 35 cents per gallon. This is the highest price received this season for a large quantity of wine.—Call.

Renews Her Youth.

Mrs. Phœbe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." Try a bottle, 50c, and $1, at E. Wegner's Drug Store.

What a glorious sense of liberty one enjoys, after being shut up for months in a dingy counting-room, or confined to the daily routine of shop, to get away from the restraints of business, and the conventionalities of society, and with your gun or fishing-rod, a pair of blankets, a tin cup, and a few pleasant companions—not forgetting a package of Frese's Hamburg Tea—we hie us away to mountain and stream, and recall in actual experience our youth again.

Worth Knowing.

Mr. W. H Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe Cold, attended with a distressing Cough and running into Consumption in its first stages. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half-dozen bottles found himself well and has had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it.—Trial bottle free at E. Wegner's Drug Store.

OPEN LETTERS.

I was greatly troubled with my liver and kidneys and pains in the back, and found no relief till I began taking Joy's Sarsaparilla. It has helped me wonderfully. I gratefully recommend it to all those afflicted as I have been.
MRS. LOMBARD, Santa Clara, Cal.

For a long time I was troubled with liver complaint. I tried many liver and kidneys cures without effect. My attention was finally called to Joy's vegetable Sarsaparilla, as being not only a splendid blood purifier, but an infallible liver and kidney remedy. I took a course of it and it effected a complete cure.
JAMES LICK, 708 Montgomery st., San Francisco, Cal.

For several years I suffered from dyspepsia and kidney complaint, so severe at times that I could not attend to my work. My appetite became poor, and I was much emaciated. Joy's vegetable Sarsaparilla and Kidney cure completely restored my health.
JOHN MCLELLAN, Redding, Cal.

I suffered for years acutely from dyspepsia, and became greatly reduced and despondent. Satisfied at last my trouble was of a scrofulous nature, I began taking Joy's Sarsaparilla, and believe it saved my life. My appetite and digestion are now good, and I feel like a new man.
JAMES WELLS, Oakdale, Cal.

In 1882 I took a severe cold in my head that resulted in chronic catarrh of the most objectionable kind. I tried doctors and many so-called specifics, but found no relief till I commenced taking Joy's vegetable Sarsaparilla. After two bottles I noticed improvement, and the sixth destroyed all traces of the disease.
C. W. LEONARD, Colusa, Cal.

I suffered for years from catarrh till it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. No remedies gave me relief till I commenced using Joy's Sarsaparilla. I began taking it last Spring, and am now entirely free from that disgusting disease.
LIZZIE A. HALL, Mojave, Cal.

I had a dangerous cough. Nothing relieved it till I commenced taking Joy's vegetable Sarsaparilla. It began to grow milder and more disconnected, and one morning about two weeks afterwards it suddenly occurred to me that I had not coughed for several days, and I am now entirely without it.
DUANE W. TIELD, 501 Post st., San Francisco, Cal.

We have over 1,000 more such letters, but no room for them here.

Unlike most so called blood purifiers, it does not employ mercurials or other dangerous minerals, but is a compound or powerful extracts and concentrated juices of vegetable alteratives indigenous to California. It is a fortunate combination of the very finest blood purifier, liver and kidney remedy and stomach regulator in existence.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhœa, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

An Old Lady's Narrow Escape from Serious Injury.

An exciting runaway occurred in this city last Thursday. A horse attached to a go-cart in which was seated an aged Italian lady, took fright while standing in front of the express office, and at the first bound the reins were jerked out of woman's hands and with nothing to to control him he ran frantically down Napa street, the frightened woman the meanwhile holding to the seat of the vehicle with a vice-like grip and calling loudly for help as the animal dashed through town and out of sight. Parties went in pursuit of the fleeing horse and about a mile out of town were agreeably suprised to find that the old lady had managed to maintain her seat in the cart and that the animal, becoming winded, had stopped of his own accord. The woman was uninjured, although badly frightened, as well she might be after such an exciting and dangerous ride.

The Watriss-Read Land Contest.

The suit of Martha C. Watriss vs. E. S. Read, instituted some time since in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa, for possession of a tract of land between this place and Glen Ellen, was decided by Judge Rutledge last Saturday. The Judge in his decision says: "I have examined this case with some care and can find no material distinction between it and the case of Eli T. Sheppard et al. vs. William B. Read, determined in this court May 8, 1886, and as far as this Court is concerned the decision in the latter case is conclusive in this. The fee in the land is still in the United States and in a contest before the land officers of the Government of the United States, in which the plaintiff and defendant were parties, it was adjudged by the Secretary of the Interior that as against this defendant, the plaintiff was entitled to purchase the land, which he did before the commencement of this action. The plaintiff has shown no title acquired since this adjudication. As far as this action is concerned the decision of the Secretary of the Interior is conclusive. It may be that in a proper action instituted for the purpose the decision could be directly attacked, but it cannot be done collaterally. Della vs. Bahall, 53 Cal., 709. Shepley vs. Cowan, 91 United States, 330-340. It is only when fraud, imposition or mistake is alleged that any inquiry can be made to question such a decision. When those officers "of the Land Department" decide controverted questions of fact in the absence of fraud or imposition or mistake, their decisions on these questions will be final. But the right of the proper court to inquire after the title has passed from the Government and the question became one of private right, whether according to the established rules of equity and the Acts of Congress concerning the public lands holding that title should hold it absolutely as his own or as trustee for another. Warren vs. Van Brunt, 19 Wallace, 665. The answer in this case, in addition to the plea of the Statute of Limitations, only raises some questions as to the correctness of the decision of the Secretary of the Interior. But as no fraud, mistake or imposition is alleged as before stated, the Secretary's decision is final on the questions raised. Whilst I cannot commend the complaint in this case, I am satisfied it alleges an equitable cause of action, although it states also facts, which look to a legal action, but treating it as an equitable action only, as I think it should be, the plaintiff is entitled to judgment, and to have an injunction restraining the defendant from cutting down the young timber or removing the same, and to receive $50 damages. Let findings be prepared in accordance with this opinion."

Candidate Notices.

At the head of our local column will be found the announcements of Henry Lutgens and F. Breitenbach for City Clerk, M. Muldry for Treasurer and George W. Sparks for Marshal. Both Messrs. Lutgens and Breitenbach are in every way worthy the office they seek and we only regret that both cannot be elected. Mr. Muldry, so far has no opponent for the office of Treasurer, and as he is both honest and capable he will no doubt have a walk over. Mr. Sparks is an old officer, having been Deputy Sheriff and Constable of this township off and on for many years and has made a faithful public servant.

Sonoma and vicinity was visited by welcome showers yesterday. The north winds of the past week had so dried up the soil that farmes had to cease plowing, but the rain of yesterday will enable them to go ahead and finish up.

THE REPUBLICANS.

They Call a County Convention for April 25th.

The Republican County Central Committee met in Santa Rosa last Saturday for the purpose of calling a county convention and for the transaction of other business. The following committeemen were present: T. W. Lougee, Petaluma; J. M. Caughey, Bodega; Chas. Peters, Vallejo; Jno. Favor, Healdsburg; H. W. Byington, S. I. Allen, I. De Turk, J. F. Smith and E. W. Davis of Santa Rosa; W. D. Sink, Cloverdale and T. Wilton.

The meeting was called to order by H. W. Byington, chairman.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to call a county convention, to be held at Santa Rosa, Wednesday, April 25th, the primaries in the several townships to be held at the several voting precincts the previous Saturday, April 21st, to select thirteen delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held at Sacramento, May, 1, 1888, said thirteen delegates to represent Sonoma county in all congressional and district nominating conventions. Said county convention shall also select a Republican county central committee. The election of delegates in each township is to be superintended by the committeemen of the townships.

The committee discussed at length the proposition to have but one primary, the delegates elected at which should hold two conventions, one in the spring to elect delegates to the State Convention and one in the fall to nominate county officers. Also, the question of selecting delegates to the State Convention was considered, but a considerable majority of the committee favored the plan adopted, one delegate for each precinct and one for every 50 votes or fraction over 25 votes cast for Jno. F. Swift for Governor.

Glen Ellen Gossip.

Most all varieties of fruit trees are in bloom.

The weather has been windy and indications for rain seem favorable.

The evergreen trees in front of Judge Small's residence were given a clip a la pompadour last week by James Law.

Buggies must be a scarcity in this section. We were actually horrified last Saturday to see a party of young ladies driving out with "A Box."

H. Huron, the elocutionist, gave two of his performances here last Friday and Saturday evenings. The performances were first-class but the attendance was small.

The happiest man on this side of the Rocky Mountains is undoubtedly Jno. McDonough, the genial conductor on the S. V. R. R. Cause, the arrival of a bouncing Native Son at his home last Friday.

The Postoffice building in north Glen Ellen is rapidly nearing completion. OLD TIMER.

The Municipal Election.

One week from next Monday the election for city officers takes place. So far only four candidates are announced in these columns for the various offices to be filled. These gentlemen are both honest and competent and if elected will make good officials. Some-half dozen names have been mentioned in connection with the Trusteeship, but so far none have materialized. We presume, however, that before another issue of this paper two tickets will be in the field.

An Ugly Rumor.

It is rumored that the people of Napa county, living near the farm where Mrs. Lyons was murdered a year since, are generally arriving at the conclusion that her husband and not Pete Olsen was the murderer, and that he not only murdered his wife but also killed Pete Olsen and hid his body somewhere in the vicinity. It is said that Lyons was very jealous of his wife and this is the supposed cause of what is now believed to have been a double murder.—Petaluma Courier.

Prof. Lippett of Petaluma, accompanied by his niece Miss C. Bowen of Boston, Mass., were registered at the Union Hotel this week.

Mrs. F. Grouthaus, after a visit of several days with friends in the city returned home last Wednesday evening.

Mr. A. Blake and sister of San Francisco were the guests of Miss Etta Raschen several days last week. Mr. Blake is a civil engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company.

A pleasant surprise party was given to Miss Zoe Clark by a number of her young friends on last Monday evening at the home of her parents on Broadway street. After playing of games and general merry making the young folks sat down to partake of refreshments, which was relished by all. This party of young people, made up of smiles, bright eyes and rosy lips with now and then a mustache to form a variety, made an interesting picture. The following were present: Bessie Armstrong, Grace Lyon, Susie Cheney, Clara Cheney, Joanna Tobin, Myrta More, Florence Linehan, Lee Smith, Lottie Morris, Zoe Clark, Millie Skinner, Eva Sydnor, Alf. McLaughlin, Charlie Douglas, Geo. Porter, Fred Ehrlich, John Skinner, Willie Appleton, Albert Dunn, Lathrop Dunn and Allie Martin.

COUNTY CULLINGS.

A pension has been granted to Thos. Owens of Healdsburg.

H. W. Byington has been nominated for Mayor by the Republicans of Santa Rosa.

Barclay Henley has sold his residence on Sonoma avenue, Santa Rosa, and will remove to San Francisco, where he will engage in the practice of law.

The Odd Fellows of this county will celebrate the anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship into the United States on April 26th by a reunion and picnic at Petaluma.

The people of Healdsburg have organized a company to construct and maintain telephone lines from that city to Skaggs Springs, Litton Springs and other neighboring points.

The Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad will locate a depot near the reservoir about two miles east of Santa Rosa at the junction of Sonoma avenue extension and the road connecting Bennett valley with the Sonoma road.

Upon close examination, however, it will be detected that the counterfeit dollar is considerably thicker than the genuine dollar. Look out for it.—Republican.

The capabilities of the Santa Rosa Cannery are to be more fully developed during the coming season than ever before. Last year 30,000 cases of fruit were packed, this year between 40,000 and 50,000 cases will be the product. It is purposed to put up 200,000 two-and-a-half cans, and 60,000 gallon cans. The corn pack will also be increased from 600 cases last year to 2,000 this season.—Democrat.

Simmons Liver Regulator

Is what the name indicates a "Regulator" of that most important organ, the Liver. Is your Liver out of order? Then is your whole system deranged, the breath offensive, you have headache, feel languid, dispirited, and nervous, no appetite, sleep is troubled and unrefreshing. Simmons Liver Regulator restores the healthy action of the Liver.

A Pleasing Entertainment.

Horace Huron, the elocutionist, gave one of his pleasing parlor entertainments at Union Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings last. The audience on both occasions was small, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in appreciation, as was evideaced by the applause he received. His recitation of "The Archery of Comedus," was indeed a treat and was well worth the price of admission in itself. Taking it all in all Mr. Huron's entertainments were most refined and pleasing and in striking contrast to the usual traveling "shows" that do the State each season.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many however have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened Lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a Cough, Cold or any trouble of the Throat or Lungs' give that old and well-known remedy, Boschee's German Syrup, a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

A gentleman living near Stony Point in this county, a few days since, turned a flock of about 70 sheep into his orchard to eat down the wild flax and other grasses growing therein. He let them stay in all of one day and at night forty of them were down, twenty-seven of which died. The wild flax bloated them and was evidently the cause of their sickness and death. Sheep-raisers should make a note of this.

The famous horse Anteo was not sold after all the talk about it. A gentleman from Kentucky did offer the $20,000 mentioned for him but the owners would have taken it, but were not willing to deliver possession until after the close of the present season. This did not suit the purchaser who wanted immediate possession of the horse, so the trade fell through. We are right glad of it for Anteo is too valuable a horse for breeding purposes to be taken from the county.

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and woman long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty if the Bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seeks its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

CONSTIPATION

IS called the "Father of Diseases," because there is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by the absorption of poisonous gases in the retention of decayed and effete matter in the stomach and bowels. It is caused by a Torpid Liver, not enough bile being excreted from the blood to produce Nature's own cathartic, and is generally accompanied with such results as

Loss of Appetite,
Sick Headache,
Bad Breath, etc.

The treatment of Constipation does not consist merely in unloading the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be a tonic as well, and not produce after its use greater costiveness. To secure a regular habit of body without changing the diet or disorganising the system

"My attention, after suffering with Constipation for two or three years, was called to Simmons Liver Regulator, and, having tried almost everything else, concluded to try it. I first took a wineglassful and afterwards reduced the dose to a teaspoonful, as per directions, after each meal. I found that it had done me so much good that I continued it until I took two bottles. Since then I have not experienced any difficulty. I keep it in my house and would not be without it, but have no use for it, it having cured me."—GEO. W. SIMS, Asst Clerk Superior Court, Bibb Co., Ga.

ON AN OLL ROAD.

A host of poppies, a flight of swallows;
A flurry of rain, and a wind that follows
Shepherds the leaves in the shuttercil hollows.
For the forest is shaken and thinned.

Over my head are the firs for rafters;
The crown blow south, and my heart goes after
I kiss my hands to the world with laughter—
Is it Addena or mystical land?

Oh, the wind of the fields in the windy weather!
How the barley breaks and blows together!
Oh, glad is the free bird afloat in the heather—
Oh, the whole word is glad of the wind!

CORSETS AND CONSUMPTION.

A Radical Difference in Male and Female Breathing—Curious Conclusion.

The mechanism of breathing may be effected by two separate and distinct sorts of nerves and muscles. The upper portion of the body, including the ribs and thorax generally, may expand, and thereby draw air into the lungs. This is termed costal breathing, literally rib breathing. On the other hand, the muscles of the abdomen may come into play, and by depressing the diaphragm, may thus increase the chest cavity. In this type, termed abdominal or diaphragmatic breathing, the muscles of the upper part of the body remain inactive. Boerhaave, in 1744, observed a radical difference in male and female breathing. The masculine type is abdominal, the female is costal.

On these premises Dr. Thomas J. Mays, of Philadelphia, has based an interesting investigation. It appears highly probable that the reason of the costal breathing of women is that they compress the diaphragmatic region with corsets, so as to suppress all but costal breathing, and so as to develop the latter highly. Dr. Mays subjected a number of Indian women to examination. He used a modification of Paul Bert's pneumograph. By this apparatus a trace indicative of the extent of chest and of abdominal movement was produced so as to show in graphic form the relative proportions of the two types of breathing in the same subject. The result was that he found the majority of Indian women to breathe almost entirely with the diaphragm. Their pneumograph tracings corresponded closely with those of white men. As the Indian women do not wear corsets, this investigation tended to prove that corsets were the cause of costal breathing.

The most curious conclusion, however, is the possible influence of corsets on consumption. Admitting that they are the cause of costal breathing, and accepting the theory that costal breathing is a corrective of consumption, a plea for these articles of attire is at once established as preventives of the dreaded malady. The possibility of this benefit is increased by the consideration that men are, on the whole, more subject to it than women, and that Indians seem peculiarly its subjects. Yet the case is far from proved, and it would be rash to consider the corset side of the question as proved. Admitting even that corsets diminish consumption, the account against them, when used injudiciously, must be regarded as far from balanced by any good of this sort that may be attributed to them.—Scientific American.

Egyptian Street Cries.

The street cries of any city are full of interest, but those of eastern thoroughfares are peculiarly significant. The Muskee of Cairo, its great native street, is a singular, oriental looking place, always crowded with strange people calling somewhat after this fashion:

Seller of sugar and water—Refresh thy heart! Quench the heat!

Seller of raisin water—It is well clarified, O, my son! By the life of thy father, it is well clarified!

Milkman—Let our morning be white!

Pretzel seller—O, all nourisher! O, all good! O, determiner! O, omniscient pretzels!

Beggar—I am the guest of God and of the prophet. I have not yet breakfasted.

Passerby (in reply)—God open to thee the hearts of men!

Another (to one sneezing)—Praise God! Thank God!

All present—God have mercy on you!

The sneezer—God guide me and you! God reward you!

Muezzin (from a mosque)—God is greatest! I declare that there is no God but God! I declare that Mohammed is the prophet of God! Come to prayer! Come to salvation! Prayer is better than sleep! God is very great! There is no God but God!

Seller of wheat cakes—These belong to thee, O fasting man! How they did knead thee in the night, O cakes

Rose seller—The rose was a thorn; she bloomed from the sweat of the prophet.

And thus the cries continue, hour after hour, and day after day.

London's Breathing Spaces.

The corporation of London has acquired within the past ten years between 6,000 and 7,000 acres within the environs of the city, at a cost of over $1,500,000, and has even gone so far as to buy up tracts of land in the city built over long ago and to tear down buildings in order to provide breathing spaces for the people. These purchases include Epping forest, of 5,843 acres, at a cost of £275,300; Wanstead park, 783 acres, costing £7,625; Burnham beeches, 373 acres; Couldon common, 347 acres, and West Ham park, 76 acres, beside the numerous small urban parks either created or restored and opened to public use under the instigation of the Society for the Preservation of Open Spaces. These numerous open spaces are one of the best features of London. Even the gardens which are not open to the public are of value merely as lungs, without which the great smoky city could hardly support life, and the recent plan of beautifying and opening to the public the old and disused graveyards—instead of cutting them up into building lots, as we do here—has proved of great utility.—Philadelphia Times.

A King's Hobby.

We all have our hobbies—even monarchs. One of the most remarkable is that of the king of Holland. It is that of collecting harness, reins, bridles, saddles, whips and spurs that have a famous history, especially those used on the fields of war in the Dark Ages are sought after with great keenness by his majesty.—The Argonaut.

If the natives of the Friendly Islands suffer from a spreading ulceration they have the limb cut off with a sharp shell.
